With globalization flattening the world, it has become increasingly important for us to utilize the top strengths and skills from different geographies. India is one of the best destinations for technical work when compared to other locations.

Almost every business is under constant need to produce huge volumes of work and generate more revenue with their existing staff. Thus it becomes important for us to scale our portfolio to a different level. We plan to achieve it with the help of brains of the gaming experts in Stockholm and unmatched skills of Indian techies.

There were multiple options to go for, such as outsourcing to an external provider or setting up our own subsidiary. We at Nolimit City feels that it is important, for all of us, to be part of "one" single organization to have common objectives, to think in the same direction, to walk hand in hand. This will not just result in quality outcomes and world-class gaming but also bring in different working styles and cultures.

In last one decade, India has shown immense growth in technology space and it's time to engage and partner with talents across.
